Andover User Fees Net Town Over $800,000 Annually

By Susan Rand

Fees and fines net Andover over $800,000 each year.

The amount of income has increased in recent years as the town sought to continue services, yet meeting constraints produced by Proposition 2½.

In some cases the fee schedule is designed to make departments self-sufficient.

Andover has taken to using what is referred to as a "user fee," a levy for use of a service or participation in an event. The user fees are in place in schools and in the town's recreation department. Other fees, such as the town's charges for annual inspections or parking ticket fines are not so new. This combination of fines and fees brought in some $788,693.13 last year, according to a TOWNSMAN survey of the annual town report, plus over $30,000 from school user fees. Much of this incoming money is, in many cases, able to make individual town offices self-sustaining.

The money that is taken into town departments, through such offices as Health, Appeals, Planning and Community Development, Conservation Commission, schools and the Department of Community Services is sent to Andover's town Tax Collector and Treasurer Myron H. Muise. Muise explained that all incoming revenue, except school user fees, are put into the town's general fund. The money there is apportioned in the annual budget-making process that will begin this September for approval by next year's town meeting voters. All money turned in through about 2 p.m., tomorrow afternoon will be credited to the fiscal 1984 receipts, said Muise. This fiscal year, running from July 1, 1983 through June 30, 1984, ends Friday at the close of the day, he said.

At Andover's public schools, user fees subsidize athletics for students in the two junior high schools and at Andover High. A user fee is also charged to those students taking music lessons in the schools.

The fees were approved by the School Committee in the summer of 1981 as school officials started to feel the dollar crunch of Proposition 2½, said Francis L. Paul, business manager for the public schools. The money collected through both school fee programs remains separate from the town's general fund. Although it is turned over to Muise it stays in separate fine arts and athletics accounts.

Paul explained that state law prevents the public schools from keeping students from the fee programs if they cannot pay. And, he said, he didn't think the fees were stopping potential musicians or athletes from signing up for lessons or teams. Waivers for students are made at the discretion of fine arts Program Advisor Diana Kolben and Richard Bourdelais, who is the acting director of athletics, said Paul.

Both music and athletics bring in just over $17,000 to each account, said Paul. That money, by law, must be used only to offset costs in the area in which it was collected, he added. As an example, the $17,000 collected in music pays for part of the $57,000 it costs to staff music lessons in the schools.

Music lessons may start as early as grade three for those wishing to learn violin, viola and cello, or at fourth grade for all other instruments. Fees for music are $50 a student for lessons for one year. The maximum charged to a family for a year of music lessons is $65, whether two students in that family take lessons or six are enrolled in the lesson program. Athletics too, has an upper limit on the user fees. Students are charged $20 per sport but if one student plays two or more sports in one year the cost is $35. A family will be charged no more than $50 for a year of sports, Paul explained.

The fees are collected by the coaches or music teachers, said Paul. If the students do not pay they are billed, he said.

Athletics and music lessons in the schools are not the only places where fees are involved for Andover's youngsters. Fees charged by the Department of Community Services (DCS) for use of the town's playing fields and participation in the hundreds of courses and events offered are what pay the bills at DCS, explained DCS Director Joan Pearson. Although the youngsters must pay to play they are not charged an initial registration fee before signing up for DCS programs.

Some DCS programs such as the swimming lessons at Pomp's Pond and playground activities at the town's recreation areas are major programs that carry only "small fees," said Pearson. A child may attend playground activities for the summer for $10. But a family will not be charged over $25 for all of their children to attend the playgrounds. Swimming lessons at Pomp's cost $15 per child for the entire session, said Pearson.

More expensive DCS summer activities include child-care at the Bancroft and Greater Lawrence Vocational School where day-long activities for pre-schoolers through school-age children run anywhere from $85 for a two-day a week program to $260 for five days at the schools.

Pearson explained that the fees set for each DCS program are calculated based upon the costs of that program. Every class fee is different, she said.

Special events such as puppet shows and movies, scheduled throughout the summer, used to be free but now cost between 50¢ and 75¢ each. Some of these single programs are funded by grants or donations from area businesses, said Pearson. But, she said, the DCS staff is not going to campaign full-time for donations to support the events. The private donations are a very small part of the total DCS budget, Pearson said.

"We do collect for virtually everything we do," said Pearson who has been at the helm of DCS for 10 years. "We considered going to user fees in about 1979 to keep the department from being wiped out."

Use of the town's playing fields, located at ten different sites, is a question the Board of Selectmen addressed last week when facing a shortage of field space for the ever-growing list of groups who want to reserve time on the just over 57 acres of playing grounds. The board froze the number of groups who use the fields unless a new group can prove they will not damage the already overused fields. Selectmen also voted to ask Andover Soccer Association to use fields only in the fall season, cutting the spring season for the league.

James Bamford, forestry superintendent of the town's Municipal Maintenance Department told THE TOWNSMAN that his

Holiday Deadlines

Due to the Independence Day holiday next Wednesday, advertising and news copy deadlines have been altered to facilitate production of next week's TOWNSMAN.

All display advertising must be in by Friday, June 29, at 5 p.m.

Real estate and classified advertising will be accepted until 11 a.m. Monday, July 2.

News items must be submitted by 12 noon on Monday.

German Visitors Need Hosts

The Andover Chapter of the American Field Service is offering an opportunity for several Andover families to participate in a short-term adult exchange. A.F.S. adult visitors from Hanover, Germany, will be here from Oct. 15 to Nov. 7.

The German visitors are fluent in English and many have been in the U.S. before as A.F.S. students. The host families will provide room and board except when special activities are planned for meals. The family may also have to provide transportation to meeting places within Andover.

The visitors will spend approximately two-thirds of their time with activities organized by A.F.S. The remaining time is free to be spent with the family or individualized touring. They are looking forward to visiting New England and enjoying the foliage season.

Interested families need not have any previous experience with A.F.S. A short workshop will be held before the visitors arrive to help answer any questions concerning their stay here. For more information, contact Mrs. David Wahr or Mrs. Gary VanDoren.

Disney Classic To Be Shown

"Dumbo," a Walt Disney classic, is a captivating all-animated circus story featuring the amazing adventures of a flying elephant and his friend, the masterful mouse. This special movie feature, the first of eight films to be shown by the Andover Department of Community Services, will be shown behind the Doherty Junior High School Monday, July 2, beginning at dusk. Raindate is Tuesday, July 3.

Known as the most spontaneous animated film that the Disney Studios have ever produced, it has also been a consistent box office favorite. "This film represents zest, technique and popularity, the Disney animators hit peaks which were previously unmatched and show no signs of being challenged today," from "The Montreal Gazette."

Admission is free. The film will run approximately 71 minutes. This program has been funded in part by Cole's Hardware and Scanlons Hardware.

Fourth Observance At Playstead

With work on the grounds of the new town offices (formerly East Junior High) on Bartlet and Whittier streets in full swing, Andover's Independence Day festivities will not be held in Central Park, the usual site.

Instead, according to Town Manager Kenneth Mahony, the celebration will move over to the nearby Playstead behind Doherty Junior High next Wednesday.

And fireworks fans will have to rely on the displays planned by neighboring towns, the manager added, since there will be no fireworks in Andover this year. That traditional part of Fourth of July observances has once again been eliminated from the town budget.

Mahony estimates that the work of creating a new entranceway to the town office building, along with parking areas around the offices, will not be completed before Labor Day.

Hearings Thursday And Friday

The Zoning Board of Appeals will hold two sessions at a new location on Thursday, July 5, and Friday, July 6, both beginning at 7:30 p.m., in the School Committee meeting room, upstairs in the school building, Whittier St.

Because there are 15 hearings scheduled, board members decided to hold the meeting over two nights. Set for the Friday evening meeting is the Andover Savings Bank's public hearing where bank officials will request a special permit to allow them to open a branch bank in West Andover.

Housing Options Studied

The Planning Board's subcommittee on housing came up with some ideas for future housing options in town during a meeting this week. Chairman Margaret Bradshaw, a member of that subcommittee, reported to the planners Tuesday night.

Meeting Monday with staff planner Nancy Jeton, the subcommittee examined past multi-family bylaw proposals and maps for inspiration, Bradshaw said.

Among the multi-family possibilities they came up with: tightly clustered developments, including zero lot-line developments; putting a limit on the number of bedrooms or total square footage in a house to make sure it will be moderately priced; and offering density bonuses to developers who turn over some units to the Andover Housing Authority. (The AHA is particularly interested in two-bedroom units and units suitable for handicapped residents, Bradshaw said.)

The chairman added that her subcommittee is also looking at the need for more consumer services in West Andover.

A planning board subcommittee on the downtown business district was scheduled to meet Wednesday, planner Paul Curley said.

He noted that representatives of downtown merchants who are serving on the subcommittee are apparently more interested in the downtown parking issue than in the general issue of expanding the boundaries of the central business district.

The next meeting of the full planning board is scheduled for Tuesday, July 10.

Forming Andover Vocal Ensemble

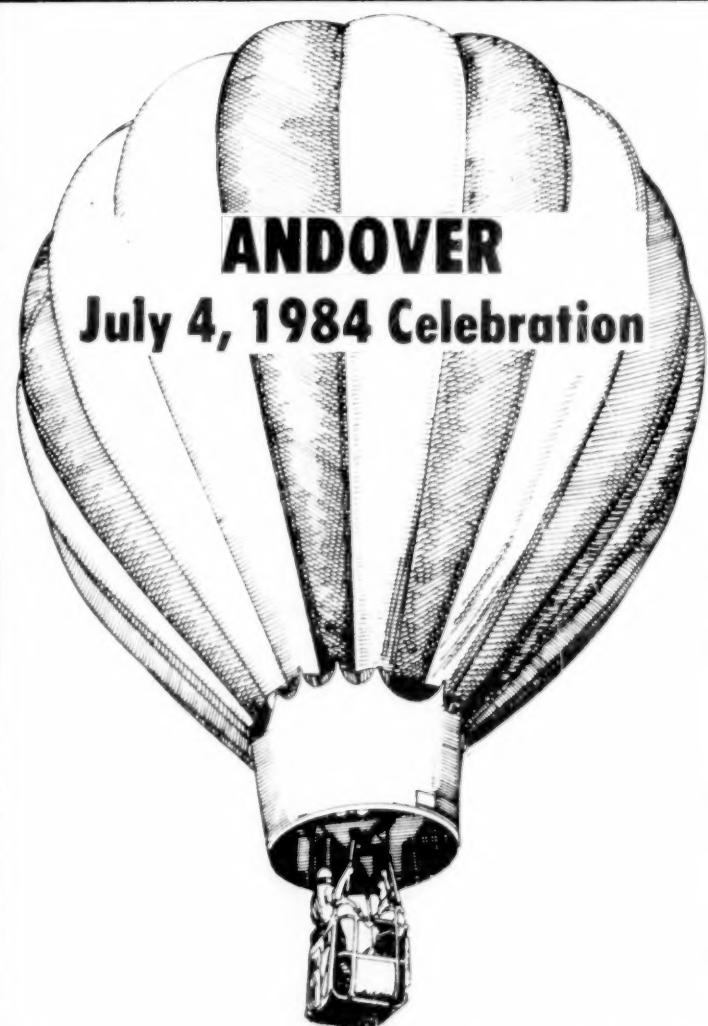

George Redman of Andover is forming the Andover Vocal Ensemble, a choir which will meet once a week to study and learn great choral music for performance.

Area residents are invited to join with the group which will initiate the weekly rehearsals in September.

Redman points out that with the current interest in bringing quality performing arts to the area, it is hoped that the Andover Vocal Ensemble will be an active contributor to this goal.

Redman graduated from Phillips Academy and Hamilton College, and recently received his Master of Music degree in choral conducting from the University of Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music. He has also studied with Robert Shaw, Greg Smith, Roger Wagner and Margaret Hillis and has sung with all major choral ensembles in Cincinnati and the Cantata Singers of Boston.

Further information may be obtained from Mr. Redman of 234 Highland Road, Andover.

Summer Festival At Academy

Professional musicians and talented students from all across the United States will gather in Andover this month for the annual Summer Festival of Chamber Music, a program of the Phillips Academy Summer Session. The festival will begin its ninth season Friday, July 6, with a concert by the Academy Chamber Players, the group of professional musicians who represent the teaching faculty for this summer music program. Student ensembles will be featured alternately with the faculty players in five additional concerts on Wednesdays, in Kemper Auditorium on the academy campus at 7 p.m. until August 8.

Director William Thomas explains that the music is selected from the standard repertory for chamber music as well as for larger ensembles, in which both students and faculty perform together. These larger groups include a string orchestra, wood wind ensemble, chamber orchestra, concert choir and symphony orchestra. The Dvorak 8th symphony and the Cantata 61 "Nun komm, der heiden Heiland" of J.S. Bach will be among the works presented this summer.

Professional Entertainers To Teach

Three well-known area performers will teach minicourses as part of Kaleidoscope's creative learning program for children in Andover Aug. 6-17. Dario Pittore, Boston magician, teaches "It's Magic," a one-week magic seminar for third, fourth and fifth graders, from Aug. 6-10 from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Students will learn variety of tricks, including some juggling, to dazzle family and friends.

Modern dance and puppetry will be offered Aug. 13-17 from 12 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. daily. Claire DiMeo, professional puppeteer, offers "Puppet Workshop" for grades 2-5. Would-be puppeteers will learn techniques of puppet manipulation and will construct several types of puppets which they will use in dramatic presentations. They will have an opportunity to use Mrs. DiMeo's own puppet stage.

Third, fourth and fifth graders may study dance with members of the Boston Peanut Butter and Jelly Dance Company. In a lively course called "Stepping Out," they will learn about dance and choreography and plan their own dance performance for the last day of the course.

All three courses are held at West Elementary School, Andover. A limited number of openings exist in each class. For information and/or registration, write Kaleidoscope, Box 506, Andover.

Elizabeth Winthrop, well-known author of books for children and teenagers, will be at Memorial Hall Library, Andover, on Thursday, July 5, at 2 p.m. to meet townspeople and talk about her books and life and experiences as a writer.

Winthrop was born and grew up in Washington, D.C. as the daughter of the political journalist, Stewart Alsop. After graduating from Miss Porter's School in Farmington, CT, she attended Sarah Lawrence College where she studied writing with Grace Paley and Jane Cooper. She received her B.A. in 1970 and was married the same year to Peter Mahony, an urban planner and architect. They have two children, since 1974 she has been writing full time after working for a number of years as an editor in the children's book department of a major publisher.

Winthrop has written books for children of all ages. Two of her teenage novels, "A Little Demonstration of Affection" and "Knock, Knock, Who's There?" were named Best Books for Young Adults by the American Library Association. Both "Marathon Miranda" and "Miranda in the Middle" were nominated for the Dorothy Canfield Fisher Award. Other favorites include "That's Mine" and "Sloppy Kisses," both written for the preschooler.

"I basically believe that writing is 10 percent talent and 90 percent practice and perseverance. I try to write something every day even if it is just an entry in a journal or a letter to a friend. I read constantly because I love it and also because books are a writer's road map," she says.

She has four new books coming out in 1984 and is at work on an adult novel for Doubleday Publishers based on the life of her grandmother who was the niece of Theodore Roosevelt and a prominent Connecticut politician.

Parenting Course Offered

Educational Therapist Miriam G. Smith of North Andover will work with Kaleidoscope to offer a three-day intensive workshop in "Responsive Parenting" August 7-9 and again on August 14-16. This program is a comprehensive issue-oriented program geared especially to parents of babies, toddlers and young children, but also useful for parents of older children and teenagers. It teaches positive, creative approaches to parenting, providing parents with choices in methods of discipline and communication. It also provides an opportunity for them to clarify their own needs and feelings around a broad range of child-rearing issues.

Through readings, activities, discussions, etc., participants will approach the following issues: balancing parents' and children's needs; exploring positive techniques for dealing with common problems (including sharing, lying, bedtime and others); ways to handle fighting and jealousy among siblings and to encourage good sibling support; the technique of role playing and its many different applications.

Enrollment is limited to ten participants per week with class running from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. These hours correspond with Kaleidoscope's summer enrichment program for children, and parents whose children are enrolled will receive a discount on the tuition cost for "Responsive Parenting."

He Didn't 'Miss The Boat' With Three Sons And Scouting

By Sue Aucella Deacon

What motivated Richard Shupe to become a Boy Scout leader was, he says, a desire to share his time and his "sense of values" with his sons. "I think this is very important," he says; in his eyes, fathers who don't find a way to enjoy their sons' company are "missing the boat."

The motivation came from within his own family. But as scoutmaster to Troop 77 of the West Parish Church since 1973, Mr. Shupe has watched many boys grow and thrive under the troop's "high standards."

He will retire from his post as scoutmaster this summer, because his youngest son will soon be leaving the scouting program, and because "ten years is enough." It's time for a younger father to step in, he says — and he intends to leave with his standards intact.

Mr. Shupe, who lives on Salem Street, is a senior manufacturing engineer with General Electric, the husband of Roberta ("Bert") Shupe, and the father of three sons: Gregg, 24; Scott, 21; and Jeff, 17.

The Shupes moved to Andover from Topsfield in 1969 — the year Richard became a Webelo leader, and later packmaster, of the Cub Scout den Gregg Shupe had joined. (Three years as a Cub Scout is an optional prelude to joining the Boy Scouts.)

An Eagle Scout, Mr. Shupe had been "inactive" in scouting since his Colorado boyhood. But he became increasingly active with the scouts when Gregg joined Troop 77, first serving on the troop committee for two years, then becoming scoutmaster in 1973.

Leading the troop "offered another way of reaching my own sons," he explains, "to give them my sense of values and lifestyle. That was the motivating factor — it was just another way of reaching them."

In its "purposes and intent," the Boy Scout program has changed little since Richard Shupe was a Cub Scout: "to take boys 11 to 18 and teach them outdoor skills, to teach them to be good citizens, to teach them leadership. It hasn't really changed — it's still one of the best programs going today."

Outdoor skills acquired through camping remain the "cornerstone" of scouting, and with good reason, Mr. Shupe believes. When scouts learn to master camping, they learn "self-proficiency. You can't survive (outdoors) without recognizing your strengths and your limitations. If you can cope with nature, it helps you cope with life."

Troop 77, formed about 26 years ago, includes 35 scouts, all from Andover. The average scout joins as a sixth-grader and leaves after four years, although he may choose to continue through his high school years.

The troop meets every Wednesday night for a two-hour session at West Parish Church (troop members do not have to belong to the church).

Camping is always a focus of the year-round program: "You can't run a troop without it," the scoutmaster says. The scouting year includes a two-week summer camp, about six camping weekends, fall and spring "camporees", and a winter "Klondike derby" camp-out. (Scout-A-Rama and a Bike-A-Thon are also among the year's major events.)

The result: An experienced Boy Scout is skilled in every aspect of camping — hiking, outdoor cooking, first aid, wilderness survival.

Mr. Shupe counts those summer camping trips among the high points of his tenure. In a two-week time period, you get 60 to 70 percent of your whole year's program accomplished, because you're with the boys 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The national Boy Scout "jamborees" he's attended in Idaho and Virginia as a scoutmaster (and one in California as a young scout), plus a world jamboree in Canada, have also been "super experiences," he says. "The trips to and from are really very exciting. You get to see a lot of the country — and you get to see it through the eyes of a young person."

Thousands of scouts attend the jamborees (103 countries were represented at last summer's world jamboree in Calgary, Canada), and their flawless behavior has greatly impressed Mr. Shupe. "There are no problems," he says of the national jamborees, held every four years. "This is America's youth at its best."

The scoutmaster also oversees the troop's merit badge program, which gets special attention each fall and spring. By passing exams and/or demonstrating skills, scouts must prove to their leader that they've earned a badge in such areas as communications, safety, first aid, citizenship (in their community, the nation, or the world), personal management.

One unusual merit badge project ranks as another highlight of Richard Shupe's leadership. In January 1979, members of Troop 77 (along with Girl Scouts from Cadette Troop 31 of North Andover) staged a mock robbery of the Arlington Trust Company's Shawsheen Plaza branch.

With the cooperation of the Andover Police Department, Essex County Superior Court and Lawrence District Court, the scouts played the parts of robbers, defense attorneys, prosecuting attorneys, members of a jury, reporters and photographers — and through this inside look at the American legal system, 22 Boy Scouts earned law merit badges.

The merit badge program is not "time-oriented," Mr. Shupe points out; there are no deadlines. If a scout doesn't earn a badge on his first try, "he'll have an opportunity to do it again."

No matter how long it takes, beginning with the rank of Scout, each boy can move up through the ranks — Tenderfoot, Second Class, First Class, Star, Life — until he attains the highest rank in scouting: Eagle. The choice belongs to each scout, Mr. Shupe emphasizes. "It's up to the individual scout to decide how high he wants to go — the leaders do not decide for them."

Few Boy Scouts rise to the top: nationally, only one percent become Eagle Scouts. But in its history, Troop 77 has had 49 Eagle Scouts — about two per year. The scoutmaster attributes that impressive statistic to the troop's merit badge program, adult leadership, and the "esprit de corps of the troop."

"The troop maintains high standards," he explains, "high standards of expectancy and excellence." That has led to some "frustrating moments — you have to recognize that you can't be all things to all people" — but for the most part, his troop has responded well. And in that positive light, it's been "a joy to run."

"Just working with kids is a challenge," he notes. "You have to recognize that each one is an individual, each one has different needs and goals. We try to stress the importance of the individual." Part of that is seeing that the scouts are supportive of one another, are friends to one another. "We stop the put-downs. Keeping it positive — that's the bottom line."

In the early years, when the scoutmaster was hammering out those standards of excellence for his troop, living up to them was perhaps most difficult for his own sons, particularly the oldest. "The leader has to be fair," he explains. "There are no favorites — and it's hardest on your own."

If it has been at times difficult to be the leader's son, none of the Shupes have let that hinder them: Both Gregg and Jeff are Eagle Scouts, while Scott has also risen high in the ranks.

The scoutmaster praises his scouts' fathers and members of the troop committee for their participation (in merit badge programs, for instance) and their role in the success of Troop 77. "We've always been very fortunate in having a strong troop committee," he notes.

Mr. Shupe told the troop two years ago that he was ready to retire, and he will be replaced in mid-summer by Jim Rielly.

"I'll miss it, but I think it's like anything — you can only do a good job for a certain time. And the real secret is to recognize that and move on before it turns the corner. It's too easy to get complacent. It's a youth-oriented program — you've got to keep up with them, and the older you get, the harder it gets."

He's not, however, anticipating more spare time to enjoy sailing, reading and computers, because he's not leaving the Boy Scouts. He's already signed on as vice president in charge of programs for the North Essex Council, which includes a total of 25 troops from Andover, North Andover, Lawrence and Methuen. (Andover has six scout troops.)

Serving as Troop 77's scoutmaster has been "fantastic. I wouldn't have traded a minute of it," Mr. Shupe says. "Seeing other people develop and grow — that's what it does for you. It's not what's in it for you."

It's cost him many nights, weekends and summer weeks away from home, hours of planning and preparation (and "umpteenth phone calls," Bert Shupe notes.) But Richard Shupe's advice to would-be scout leaders is swift and sure: "Do it. It's worth it."

Ironing Then

As early as the tenth century the Vikings used a glass "linen smoother" that looked like a flat, inverted mushroom for their ironing chores. The Greeks used a "gotter-ing" iron to pleat their linen robes. By the 16th century in Europe, iron-ing was being done with a hollow, boxlike iron de-signed to hold hot char-coal. By the end of the 1800s in America, gas irons were in use. Then electric iron. It could not be used, however, until electric power became Seely patented the first more prevalent.

Write a check for up to $100,000 to finance almost anything. That's Equity Reserve. Now your credit's not only good; it's great.

Bank of New England-Bay State takes the equity you've built up in your home and makes it work for you. Use it to invest. Pay off an old debt. Back an education. Or take advantage of those rare opportunities that come your way.

How much is your home worth? We'll appraise it, subtract any mortgages owed, and make credit available for up to 75% of the difference. Use as much as you need, when you need it. The rate you pay varies monthly and is the prime rate published in The Wall Street Journal

He was named to the board of directors in 1979. As a board member, Doherty served on the communications, company-agents and legislative committees.

Doherty is the Town Moderator of Andover and a member and past chairman of the Democratic Town committee. He serves as chairman of the development committee and as a trustee of Merrimack College and is a member of the board of governors of Commonwealth Area Reinsurers, the state's automobile re-insurance organization.

Prior to giving his inaugural address at the convention, Doherty was read citations from Governor Michael S. (The latter citations were introduced before the Legislature by Senator Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence) and Representative Susan Tucker (D-Andover), respectively.)

Doherty was also read a tribute from U.S. Senator Paul Tsongas, which cited "his outstanding contributions to his profession and to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts." The tribute was made of "The Congressional Record" of June 4, 1984.

PRACTICAL & SAFE

Because the most common injury to infants are accidental falls, the Baby's Room recommends that expectant parents be careful in planning a changing area for your baby. Care should be taken in choosing a dressing table that is an appropriate height for the mother. You should pick one that is sturdy, will stay sturdy, and can strap your baby securely. The straps are extremely important - you never know when you need to walk away to get the phone, diapers, clothing, or if another child calls for help. We stock a wide variety of hardwood changing tables. Padded tops and straps are always included. We also carry wicker changing tables, changing top kits for chests and bureaus and the very popular dressing chest - four full drawers with a flip-top oversized changer.

Museum Will Change Name

During their 25th annual meeting on Monday, June 25, members and trustees of the Merrimack Valley Textile Museum voted to adopt a new corporate title, effective Sept. 1. Succeeding Merrimack Valley Textile Museum will be the Museum of American Textile History. Members also voted to increase the number of trustees from 13 to 23 men and women.

Edward B. Stevens, president, explained that "Museum of American Textile History" is much more descriptive of the museum's scope and character. "We are the proud owners of America's largest collection of textile tools, machines, textiles, trade catalogs, books, manuscripts, photographs and prints. We are visited each year, not only by students and adult residents of the Merrimack Valley, but by scholars, collectors, teachers and craftsmen from all over the world. They have confirmed that our collection is unique."

Stevens said the decision to expand the trustees is intended to strengthen the museum's leadership as trustees plan the future of the nearly 25-year-old institution. Elected for one year terms were:

Thomas Cargill of Boxford, partner in Cargill, Masterman and Cahill, Boston.

Philip DeNormandie of Cambridge, president of DeNormandie Research, Boston.

A. Hunter Dupree of Providence, R.I., professor of History Emeritus, Brown University.

Clifford E. Elias of North Andover, professor of law, Suffolk University Law School.

Diet Facts & Fallacies

DIETING

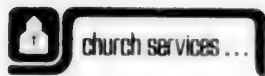

At last, it's summer! Thoughts turn to beaches and swimwear, tennis and shorts, and DIETING! As the warm weather approaches, people want to shed their winter clothes, and those extra bulges that were hidden, so they can look nice in their summer ones. Look for a weight-control program, not just a fad diet. A safe program will supply your body with all of the nutrients it needs to function properly, not just all liquids, or all fiber.

Do you realize that you can diet, become slim, and still not look and feel your best? This is because you have deprived your body of necessary vitamins and minerals. The Diet Center Program meets all RDA and the Seven U.S. Dietary Goals. Your Diet Center Counselor can provide a complete, safe, weight-reduction program for you and also teach you to keep weight off through good nutrition.

New Postmaster Is Aware Of His First Predecessor

By Susan Rand

Antonio Mendonza is probably one of the few people in Andover who know who the town's first postmaster was.

Mendonza, who is the town's new postmaster, learned about Andover's history, especially the postal facts, while he was here for an interview not long ago. He assumed the postmaster's job, vacated by retired postmaster Edward J. Morrissey, on Saturday, June 9.

An 18 year post office employee, Mendonza, who is 38, has an impressive list of postal credentials and awards. He started thinking about working for the government when he played handball with the local letter carriers as a seven year-old in Puerto Rico. At age nineteen Mendonza started unloading mail trucks in his home town of Carolina. He rose through the ranks of the post office, working as a mail handler, letter carrier, mail clerk and supervisor of numerous operations while picking up a bachelors and masters degree in psychology at Puerto Rico's Inter-American University. He has also taken some business courses at New Hampshire College.

The new postmaster is also a Vietnam War veteran. He was an airplane gunner with the 101st Airborne Division in Vietnam for 11 months and 29 days, he said, those days forever burned into his memory. Mendonza was awarded a dozen medals for his tour of duty overseas, where he was wounded when his plane was hit. His Army years, 1966 through 1968, were Mendonza's only time away from a post office job.

He and wife Zoraida and their children, Anthony, who is nine; and Glorivee, 15, are looking for a home in Andover. They are temporarily staying in Lawrence but because Mendonza is the postmaster must live in town within a year's time.

Mendonza said he likes what he has seen of Andover. His first glimpse of town, when he came here to start work, was of the American flag-lined Main St., which, said the new postmaster, impressed him.

"I am proud of the trust and confidence placed in me," said Mendonza of his new position. "I will do all that is in my power to continue to provide good service to Andover."

Mendonza also said that he is looking forward to the colder months to come. This will be his first real winter, he said with a smile. And by the way, he added, Isaac Abbot was named postmaster of Andover on January 1, 1795.

Country Club Work Can Resume Only To Prevent Soil Erosion

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Work may resume in section four of Andover Country Club Estates, the Planning Board voted this week, but only enough work to prevent soil erosion in that section of the 360-acre cluster subdivision.

The planners Tuesday night voted to give country club developer Yvon Cormier three weeks to stabilize exposed soil and install water lines in section four of the multi-section development.

They specified, however, that work may not continue in the rest of the section, including the roadway.

Last week, the board ordered Cormier to stop all work in section four, which is located at the end of Canterbury Street and borders Route 495. The 38.9-acre section is to include 38 house lots; the entire development will eventually include more than 270 houses.

They found that the developer had violated a condition of his special permit to regrade the section, granted last October, by starting regrading work in late May without their knowledge or permission.

Board members indicated that they were concerned about exposed land and stockpiles of loam blowing around the area—and considered Cormier's violation of his regrading permit an act of bad faith.

Cormier appeared before the board Tuesday night, with engineer Paul Ferrante of Dana F. Perkins Associates and Andover Atty. Philip Sullivan, to discuss stabilization of the area already excavated.

Ferrante said the developer could loam and seed the area along Route 495 (fairway eight on the country club golf course) within three weeks. The developer could also install water lines to irrigate the area within that time, he added.

Chairman Margaret Bradshaw said she would like to see the area loamed and seeded within one week. With normal construction delays, she explained, three weeks could easily stretch out to many more weeks—leaving the area exposed all summer.

But planner Paul Curley said, "I would still like to see it done properly." He suggested that installing the irrigation system would help grass to grow. Spreading out the loam without water could just lead to more blowing, Curley said.

The board voted three-zero (with Andrew Girdwood and Michael Houghton absent) to order Cormier to stabilize an exposed knoll along fairway eight with netting or hay bales; to install water lines within two weeks; and to spread loam around the area within three weeks. In the meantime, stockpiled loam is to be covered with netting or hay bales.

Planner Russ Moran emphasized that last week's stop-work order remains in effect for the rest of section four. Community Development and Planning staffers are to review the status of the work in two weeks, the board added.

On Monday, a soil conservationist from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service joined Community Development Director Jonathan Gilmore, Town Engineer John Avery, Moran, and Cormier's representatives for an inspection of the site.

According to a memo to the planner from Gilmore, conservationist Tara Hall found that the exposed areas in fairway eight are not likely to blow around, creating a problem for abutters, because the soil is gravelly rather than sandy. (Blowing sand has presented major problems to neighbors of other sections of the development.)

Hall found that "major problems should be avoided" if the developer installs water lines and seeds the area within three of four weeks. She also recommended stabilizing exposed areas with temporary vegetation, and grading steep slopes to minimize the risk of water erosion.

In his memo, Gilmore also discussed his own "involvement" in Cormier's violation of the special permit. Last week, an engineer for the developer said Gilmore had known about the work on section four for two weeks; Gilmore was not present at last week's meeting.

The director wrote that he discovered work underway in the section four roadway around June 7 or 8, and pointed out to Cormier at that time that he was in violation of the permit.

However, he did not order the work stopped because the Public Works department wanted the road work done so town water mains could be installed in the area, Gilmore explained. He added that a planning board meeting was scheduled for a few days later, June 12; that meeting, however, was subsequently postponed until June 19.

Gilmore said he believed the developer's staff had failed to alert him of the need to return to the planners before he started regrading section four, and that Cormier had not "deliberately deceived" the board by proceeding with the work.

The director said he intended to establish

Same Good Food In A New Setting

The China Blossom, offering delicious Cantonese-style cuisine and a sporting attractive interior and exterior, is celebrating its 22st anniversary this year.

Owner Richard Yee is proud of the restaurant's new look which was recently completed last November with the banquet room that seats 100 was opened. The new surroundings are enhanced by beige wallpaper, a bamboo pattern and black accents that are repeated in framed photographs of scenery. In addition, Chinese opera masks and musical instruments arranged in wall hangings provide focal points of color—bright blue, orange and white.

To celebrate the beautiful new atmosphere and the restaurant's anniversary, Yee has created a special dish: China Blossom Gyu Poo Lung Ha.

It is a generous combination of deep fried chicken, fresh lobster, beef strips and shrimp that are cooked with Chinese vegetables and served on a bed of soft noodles fried with bean sprouts.

Considered a feast in itself, this scrumptious dish serves two people and costs $15.95.

The most popular foods served at China Blossom are the appetizers: spare ribs, chicken fingers, egg rolls, steak strips and shrimp, according to Yee.

China Blossom's newly decorated lounge features dancing and live entertainment every Thursday, Friday and Saturday night. In addition, patrons can now enjoy the same exotic drinks, appetizers and complete meals served in the dining area.

Dining Out Could Save You Money

"Dining out can be significantly cheaper than preparing and eating the same meal at home," says Professor Lee Kreul of Purdue University's School of Consumer and Family Sciences. "In fact, it can be as much as 92 percent cheaper in some cases."

Kreul's statement is based on a recently completed study evaluating the cost dynamics of the home vs. restaurant dining commissioned by the Time Out Institute.

One role that many women continue to dominate is that of meal planner and preparer with total food budgeting and expenditure responsibilities. "We wanted to know if making a meal from scratch was still the most economical and practical means of feeding a family," commented Kreul. "So many aspects of women's lives and family structure have changed, we felt certain traditional meal economics may well have changed also."

Kreul's assumption proved correct. His study compared eight different dining situations for both sandwich and fried chicken meals prepared at home and purchased

Every attempt was made to duplicate the restaurant meal in the home situation as closely as possible.

The study confirmed the smaller the family unit, the greater the savings realized by opting for the restaurant meal. In fact, a single person could save as much as 92 percent by eating a chicken dinner out versus preparing a similar meal at home.

As families continue to decrease in size and change in structure, the option to dine out is even more of an economic value, stressed Kreul.

The Bureau of Census reports family unit size decreased from 3.14 persons in 1970 to 2.78 in 1979 ... a figure expected to drop to 2.5 by 1980.

"Our study clearly shows that a restaurant's ability to inexpensively produce a meal at a lower unit cost is due to the large volume of meals served daily. As family sizes decrease, that restaurant economy of scale naturally makes it far more expensive for the home chef to produce a low unit cost

Boston Style Closer To Home

Bringing a bit of Boston to the suburbs is the goal of the Whittier Inn, in Haverhill.

The restaurant was renovated by North Andover developers John and Vincent Grasso. Decor at the Whittier is from the new Federalist period and features several dining areas, a lounge and function rooms as well as an open hearth.

The Inn is not open for lunch Saturdays and is closed on Sundays. The lounge is open from Tuesday through Saturday. There is entertainment on Thursday through Saturday featuring contemporary melodies by a pianist and a singer.

The Whittier Inn is operated by Gerhard Schnellinger, general manager; Roger DeAmelio, chef; and Janice Libby, restaurant manager.

Foods such as Long Island duckling l'orange, rack of lamb, and chateaubrand are some of the dinners prepared and served tableside for two. Also available are Boston scrod, baked stuffed shrimp, food from the open hearth, lamb chops hunter style, filet mignon and many European dishes.

'Dining Out' On A Diet

Your favorite restaurant with its luxurious decor, a solicitous maitre'd, a chef famous for pound-producing sauces and congenial dinner companions need not crumble the determination of the most dedicated dieter, according to Elaine Robin, director of a weight-watching group in Eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

"Special events," Robin noted, "provide a good opportunity to demonstrate that even the weight-conscious diner can enjoy eating out, provided he or she follows certain guidelines to avoid eating traps."

Some of her "dining out" guidelines are as follows:

1. Choose steak houses or seafood restaurants whenever possible.

If you go to another kind of restaurant you can always order meat, poultry, or fish broiled and ask that your vegetables be prepared without butter.

2. Don't pour over the menu.

If you are on a weight reduction program, you know what you can have.

Ask for it.

Be cordial to the maitre'd and send your compliments to the chef for helping you stay on your diet.

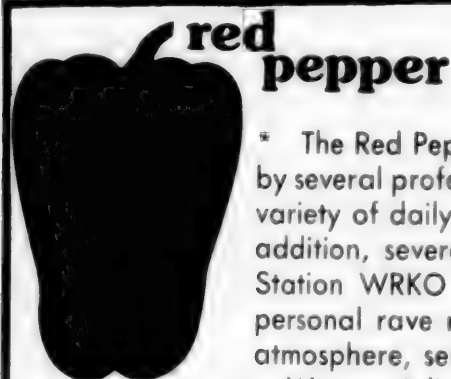

3. Order a salad or coffee immediately.

Move the basket of rolls to the other side of the table.

If you have something to eat that meets your diet requirements, and if you are not confronted with the temptation to nibble, you will find it much easier to follow your food program.

4. Be the first one in your party to order.

This avoids the "me, too" syndrome and keeps you away from a major trap.

Wines And Hors'Doeuvres At Kingston House

The charm of a three century old setting enhances the pleasure of leisurely, relaxed dining at the Kingston 1686 House, the oldest house in the town of Kingston, N.H.

Built in 1686 and converted to a restaurant in 1972, the house retains many original features such as the beehive bake-oven, nine over six windows, Indian shutters, wide pine floor boards and handcut beams. Since acquiring the restaurant in 1973, owners Peter and Niki Speliotis along with their son, Peter Speliotis Jr., have carefully preserved the sense of tradition while adding their own unique touches and innovations to everything from the decor to the menu. The interior is enlivened throughout by Niki's own cre-wel work, the exterior features her extensive garden of dwarf ever-greens and perennials.

The inviting atmosphere complements the superb food and gracious service for which the Kingston 1686 House is famous. Delightful dinners are all individually prepared to order, using the finest quality prime-graded meats and fresh seafood. Specialties include baked stuffed El Presidenti jumbo shrimp, chateaubriand, Plume de Veau veal dishes, rack of lamb, baked stuffed fresh haddock and live lobsters from the restaurant's own tank.

The extra touches that accompany all dinners are a special Kingston House attraction— cheese dip and crackers, hot bread and butter, relish plates, salads with homemade dressings and daily tidbits including marinated mushrooms, Greek meatballs, chicken wings and feta cheese puffs. Delectable desserts, served with real whipped cream, are all homemade.

Featuring one of the finest selections of wines north of Boston, the Kingston 1686 House recently became the first restaurant in northern New England to install a Cruvinet wine dispenser, which can serve an individual portion of any wine while preserving the remainder in the bottle in vintage condition. Now many of the Kingston House's finest wines are available by the glass.

A new lounge and banquet room were also added recently. Named for the 200-year-old Linden Tree, planted during the Revolution and presently shading its lovely windows, the beautiful Linden Room seats 150 while maintaining the warm, traditional atmosphere of the five smaller dining rooms and lobby.

In the new lounge a unique bar and valence has been created by chef Peter Jr., from handsome wooden boxes which originally contained wines served in the restaurant.

Restauranteurs Respond To NRA Survey

A survey was conducted among 200 members selected at random from the National Restaurant Association membership, with proportional representation from all 48 continental states.

Some statistics on respondents.

1. Seventy-four percent characterize themselves as family service, medium-check; 17% say they're white-cloth, high-check types; and 9% say they're fast food and carry-out places.

2. The sample says 17% of their revenues come from breakfast, 30% from luncheon, and 53% from dinner.

3. The average restaurant in the sample redecorates (paints or washes) every 2.5 years, while it completely remodels and refurnishes every 5.7 years.

4. The sample says 54% of customers prefer to sit in side chairs (not arms), 30% like arm chairs, 6% like swivel chairs, and 10% prefer booths.

Some conclusions

1. Dining out involved companionship, even at breakfast. Most people eat with two persons or more, 38% with two more at breakfast, 48% at lunch, 57% at dinner.

2. Most dining patrons (47% to 59%) prefer to sit at tables rather than in booths or at the counter.

3. Anywhere from 54% to 61% of diners are men.

4. Men spend less time at dinner (1 hour 35 minutes vs 1 hour 30 minutes).

5. Breakfast averages $1.12 in price, luncheons $1.70 and dinners $3.95. Luncheons and dinners are higher-priced at private parties in the same restaurants. Prices have stayed approximately the same over the past year.

6. Men tip consistently higher than women: 13% vs. 9% at breakfast, 14% vs. 10% at lunch, and 15% vs. 12% at dinner.

Survey Says Millions Enjoy Dining Out

The art of dining out is enjoyed by millions each year according to a survey made by the National Restaurant Association (NRA) which states that one out of every three food dollars is spent for meals outside the home.

The NRA also reports that one out of every three persons in the United States enjoys dining out, be it for a snack, lunch or dinner.

Better than 50 percent of the families included in the survey said they had eaten out in the prior week.

Why do people leave the home to dine?

There are no doubt as many answers as there are people but one major reason is that it is an enjoyable activity in which the entire family can participate. But, and this is the big factor, no member of the family has to wash the dishes or clean up the dining room.

People are naturally drawn to good food, well prepared and served with style. And it is to such restaurants that the American family turns to for a change, whether it is once a week, one a month or just to celebrate a birthday, a promotion or an anniversary.

Such restaurants are becoming more popular each year according to the most recent NRA survey.

Commendable Action

Andover's planning board displayed commendable action this past week in ordering work stopped at the Andover Country Club development where the developer was working in violation of conditions.

Residents and neighbors of the large-scale development had requested relief from the selectmen one evening, receiving little or no satisfaction, but obtained improved living conditions in the area when appearing before the planners a night later.

The particular development, located in an area bounded by Canterbury, Beacon streets and Route 495, has been under development for some time, and, unfortunately, has on occasion been a troublesome one to the neighbors.

The planners, in issuing permission for development of the area, were apparently cognizant of the problems which would be created and established conditions upon which continued building in the area would be allowed.

The developer most recently continued operations in violation of the specified orders of the planners, resulting in the action taken last week.

Realizing that the developer, Yvon Cormier, has attained the status of being listed among the town's top taxpayers, primarily through the land now held for development principally in the country club area, signals to the town and to contractors, that Andover's planning board is not impressed with the magnitude of a project, but rather that the town's interests are being protected.

A cursory glance at various proceedings relevant to complaints coming from the area concerning dust and other inconveniences to neighbors, indicates, but does not prove, that possibly some municipal officials were remiss in not acting to stop work prior to the planning board decision.

Whether or not steps should have been taken can remain in question. The fact is, the planners took the necessary action not only to provide relief to abutters, but to protect the town's interests as well.

As mentioned here on several occasions, membership on the planning board in Andover is a demanding experience.

For members of the current board, the experience is even more difficult in view of the continuing involvement in issues revolving around the growth of the town, and the fact that most have had only brief tenures contributing to limited time to grapple with the complexities of municipal planning.

The strong decision made by the planners last week indicates that, as a board, they are not soft on enforcement of their regulations.

It also indicates that while the developer may be among the town's major taxpayers, they are aware that one day all that will change and the tax bill for the property now under construction, will be meted out to those who purchase homes in the area. By their decision the planners faced their responsibility of protection of the town and its residents, present and future, in their commendable decision.

Surgery On Judicial System

We see the story repeated too often. A crime is committed, the perpetrator arrested, convicted and then given a sentence which fails to fit the seriousness of the crime. The famous "Concord sentence," which permits parole after only 10 percent of a sentence has been served, has led to public, particularly victim, frustration and cynicism about our judicial system.

Lack of uniformity from court to court, shortage of prison space and scarce resources for rehabilitation programs have all contributed to the problem. Radical surgery on our judicial and correctional system is long overdue, but a major step is being taken by Governor Dukakis and the Legislature.

Sue Tucker

The House of Representatives has given initial approval to the "Uniform Sentencing and Correction Act" (H 5537) which proposes sweeping changes in the way we deal with crimes against persons in Massachusetts. Perhaps the most intriguing aspect of the bill is the requirement that a judge who sentences someone to either less or more time than recommended by law for a specific crime must justify in writing his or her reasons for doing so. Judges would still have the final say on the sentence given to an individual. But, through the "justification in writing" requirement, judges would have to be considerably more accountable for their sentencing decisions than under the current system, which has no such "justification" requirement.

The present system allows judges broad latitude in sentencing decisions partly because crimes are defined only in general terms under current law. The proposed bill would more precisely define crimes and assign degrees of seriousness to a specific crime. For example, there would be three degrees or types of assault, each defined by the amount and extent of bodily injury suffered by the victim, as well as other factors. Each degree or type of assault would be assigned a specific recommended sentence designed to fit the crime. Thus, judges would have a detailed list of 50 types of crimes, the result of expanding the degrees or types of some 20 crimes defined under current law. Judges also would have a detailed list of recommended sentences for each crime. This provision would result in sentences that are issued in a more uniform and fair manner.

The bill also would require inmates to participate in educational and job-training programs in order to earn eligibility for parole. And it would establish a new system of intensive supervised probation for convicted persons who are allowed to live and work in the community instead of serving a prison term.

The bill, if passed, will undoubtedly add new inmates to the state's already overcrowded prison system. But, Governor Dukakis, a strong supporter of the legislation, has pledged that his administration's Department of Correction will fully address this issue. The department has designed an innovative master plan that proposes more prison cells, better rehabilitation programs and increased use of

The Forsaken Old Maids' Club held a walking supper on Maple avenue last evening, which was a decided success. The members were prettily attired for the occasion, and their appearance on the street caused a decided sensation.

Next Sunday will be the two hundredth anniversary of the organization of the South Parish. The pastor will give an historical address at the morning service.

A new record in bowling was made on the Guild alleys on Wednesday evening when Marcus Beebe rolled a total of 191 for one string. The roll was made with bottle pins.

It is Chief of Police Mears. Holding the position some years ago, Mr. Mears comes back to again take up the work of chief of the Andover department. Of course Mr. Mears in his long service as a police officer of the town has not been free from a great deal of criticism, but taking everything into consideration, he has many excellent qualities that fit him for good public service.

In 1859 a small group of seven, three girls and four boys, was graduated from the Punchard Free School, the first to have the honor of receiving diplomas from this newly established school for higher education in Andover. This year, 75 years after that first graduation, 79 are being sent out, having completed satisfactorily the requirements of this day and age for high schools. On Sunday, an anniversary celebration of the first graduation was held in the old school hall which, this week, sees the last of its festivities as it is to be torn down soon to make room for a bigger building.

An enjoyable picnic, featuring a strawberry festival and the playing of bridge and croquet, was held by the Thimble Club at the Phillips Academy bird sanctuary Monday afternoon. Mrs. Charles A. Scott kindly provided the strawberries.

Some 300 young men came up from the Harold Parker State Forest to Andover Town Hall Monday night to participate in the first commencement ever held by any of the country's CCC camps. Music, addresses, awarding of certificates, an oratorical contest, and last but not least the first annual CCC prom all helped to make this unusual event rival the closing exercises of a good many colleges.

It's interesting to note that the selectmen have asked the School Committee to sit down and discuss future school needs. At least one of the members of the School Committee has been concerned recently that the town will not have plans ready for a new school when it is needed, if steps are not taken immediately to discuss the problem frankly. There have been ominous warnings of a new school — through the rapid residential growth in West Andover, via anticipated enrollment for the coming year, and through the plans recorded with the Planning Board for future construction in the area.

One of the highlights of the Andover High School graduation last Friday evening was the announcement of prizes and scholarships. In presenting awards to various members of the class, Headmaster Lindsay J. March made mention of the 100th anniversary of the first Punchard graduates.

The Rev. J. Edison Pike, rector of St. James Church, Keene, N.H., has accepted a call to become rector of Christ Church. He will fill a vacancy caused by the death of the Rev. John S. Moses. Mr. Pike, who has been rector of the Keene church since 1953, was born in Newfoundland, Canada.

The School Committee Monday night voted to obtain special counsel for the case brought against them by colleague William L. Lane. Lane offered an amendment to the original motion presented by Committeeman John G. Wragg, asking that he be provided with counsel as well, but did not receive a second. Wragg's motion, seconded by Committeeman George Oleson, will provide special counsel on the issue of violation of the state open meeting law. Lane had brought the suit based on alleged secret sessions conducted by the other four members in April and May.

Gerald Silverman, assistant Andover High principal, has resigned to take on a full principalship in Georgetown, and indications are that other administrators may soon follow him out of the Andover system. Silverman, who has been with the system 13 years — three as assistant principal, will be principal of Georgetown's Junior-Senior High School. He had been one of 80 candidates for the $20,000-plus job.

Thanks To A Coach

To Jim Arnold, Coach

I would like to take this opportunity to extend my personal thanks for the great job you have done with coaching the Cardinals baseball team for Andover Little League this season. As a parent, I can only tell you that I have seen you direct the team with enthusiasm and fairness. It was a joy for me to see your team, my son included, enjoy their practices and games so thoroughly. The eagerness on their part to do a good job with team effort reflects on the excellent coaching togetherness of you and your associates. Learning to deal with children at this age level is sometimes difficult but you seem to be able to handle it with ease and you have the respect of your whole team. I do not recall ever seeing you embarrass any member of the team, as I have seen on opposing teams. If you have a suggestion or correction for them, I have seen you tactfully explain how things could have been different, how to handle it the next time, and to learn from mistakes. When you have blown off a little steam it was not intimidating to the player, but rather a necessary part of the coaching and your players realized it.

I would also like to tell you how much I enjoyed your weekly column in the TOWNSMAN. You have a knack for sports writing/reporting and I can see that you thoroughly understand what you are doing. My best of luck to you if you decide to follow a career pattern in this direction.

A special thanks, also, to those associates of yours who have given their time faithfully to the Cardinals, both at their practice sessions and the games. I hope you all will enjoy a nice evening together with the gift we all presented you tonight in thanks for making our Spring/Summer baseball season of 1984 so much fun. You have earned my respect and my son's for a great coaching job, and for being a gentleman throughout. Bravo.

Fees

fiscal 1985 budget to maintain the town's fields and lawn areas that border them, a total of 89.5 acres of land, is up to $248,000 for next year.

Pearson said the DCS theory for usage of the playing fields is to maximize usage for town youth groups, the only ones allowed to use the fields in the spring and fall. She said adult groups are only scheduled in the summer on town fields. The user fees vary, depending on the nature of the groups using the field. If the town was out to make money on its fields the youth group usage could be cut to allow more outsiders to reserve the "expensive" time. But that is not the idea behind the town's scheduling, said Pearson.

"The town's attitude has been to let the youth groups play and keep the fees as reasonable as possible," said the DCS director. "I don't see that there is going to be a big jump in fees. And I don't see the selectmen saying to the youth groups that they have to get off the fields so we can make more money from the adult teams."

This year's field fees represent the first increase since 1981, said Pearson. Andover youth leagues pay $2 each time they use a field. For resident groups that price is $15 for a single use. Seasonal rates for a resident group cut the cost of field time in half, so, for example, a group that plays at least five times on a town field will only be charged $7.50 for each use. The fee jumps for use by private business groups and out-of-towners. A business pays $150 for a one-time use of a town field and a non-resident business pays $200.

Reserving time at Recreation Park, located off Abbott St., costs a group more because, according to Pearson, the group gets an entire facility including bathrooms and the park shelter. A single use of Rec Park, as it is called, is $25 for a resident group.

Andover also charges for use of the 18 tennis courts in town. A season pass will cost a family $45 for tennis for a summer while the hourly rate is $3 for singles and $4 for an hour and a half for doubles play.

DCS also schedules use of the town's public schools after school hours. The costs to use schools may run from a low of $7.50 for Andover-based non-profit groups to a high of $400 for use of the high school gymnasium or auditorium for a private business fundraiser.

While many town residents pay the DCS and school user fees more often than some other fees and fines there are hundreds of other town charges listed that are charged for a wide variety of services.

One common fine is levied on residents whose burglar systems ring false alarms at the police station. Three years ago the selectmen voted to fine the continual offenders who pay $15 for every false alarm after six false messages are registered with the company the town contracts with to record and call in the alarms. After nine more false alarms are recorded over a year the system must be disconnected, explained Police Chief James Johnson.

Billing for the false alarms hasn't been very successful, said Johnson, because the town has switched alarm companies. They are with a new company now and Johnson said he hopes the billing problem straightens out. The police also collect fees for pistol licenses, which cost $10 each; and for firearms identification cards, which are $2.

Of course there are the parking tickets too. Last year they brought in $74,838, according to the town report. The parking fines are $5 for such offenses as meter violations, parking in the wrong direction or parking in a restricted area; these jump to $10 for blocking a fire hydrant, a crosswalk, a private driveway or parking in a handicapped spot without proper plates.

Parking fines are collected in the town clerk's office and are up to $72,000 to date this year. Towns took over collection of parking fines in 1982. Before that the job was done by the Lawrence District Court officials.

Bicycle registration stickers brought in $29 last year. The registrations, available at the police station, cost 25¢ each.

If you live outside of Andover and need an ambulance while here in town that too will cost you. All emergency ambulance calls cost $70 for out-of-towners. Last year the ambulance fees netted the town $5,679, said Treasurer Muise. The town bills the ambulance users at their homes, and many rides in the ambulances are paid for through insurance companies, explained Fire Chief William T. Downs, who estimated that between 55 and 60 percent of the ambulance bills that are sent out each year are paid.

Smoke detectors must be installed in all new dwellings in Andover and the cost of an inspection of the smoke alarms is $10.

Town boards charge filing fees for building plans to cover the costs of advertising for public hearings and sending notices of these meetings to abutters of the property in question. For example, a developer filing subdivision plans for Planning Board approval must pay $25 to file the plan and $80 for each lot in the subdivision. Last year the Planning Board brought in $14,621 in revenue, according to the town report. Filing with the town for a Board of Appeals hearing costs $25.

There is also a myriad of fees charged for building new structures and paying inspectors to certify different types of work in each building such as electrical, plumbing and gas work.

Plumbing fees for inspection of a new home are $25 plus $4 for each plumbing fixture. It costs $10 to check out gas fixtures plus $4 for each appliance. A swimming pool added onto a home costs $15 for a permit plus $7 for each one-thousand dollars of work after the first $2,000. Fees for tennis courts are calculated the same way.

If the town has stopped work on a site, for any reason, it costs $100 to have that stopwork order lifted, after appropriate conditions have been met. Moving a home costs $100 or tearing one down requires a permit costing $10 for small structures and $20 for large ones plus $7 per thousand dollars over $2,000.

There are other, more unusual permits in town that the average resident may never apply for. For example, to operate a pig gery on your land a $2 permit must be had from the Health Department. Permits for goats cost $5. The Health Office will also issue a 50¢ license for the sale of oleo or a $50 permit to install a whirlpool bath.

A garden bathroom creates a natural setting for bathing by allowing a view of outdoor gardens through a large fixed window or sliding glass door. The result is that an invigorating feeling can be imparted to the morning bath routine. In some cases, plants can be brought indoors to give the bath a greening touch. The addition of a skylight allows natural sunlight to assist plant growth and to provide perfect illumination for make-up. Plexiglass dividers, enclosures, windows and skylights all serve to turn a functional bath into a refreshing experience.

Baths are becoming less stereotyped these days and whether you want an elegant decor or practical, WINDSOR KITCHENS can serve your needs. We can save you time, money and needless worrying. You will find us in Ward Hill 1/2 mile north of Western Electric on Rte. 125 where we are open Mon. Thurs. 9-5:30; Fri. 9-8; Sat. 9-2, eves by appt. or phone 372-3444. Gold Ruthers Back On Top

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Gold Babe Ruth baseball team returned to its winning ways last week, regaining sole possession of first place in the Greater-Lawrence League after sweeping to victories over intra-town rival Andover Blue, 8-3, and South Lawrence East, 8-0.

The twin triumphs enabled Gold to lift its overall league record to 5-2, while South Lawrence West entered this week at 5-3, North Andover at 4-3 and Blue at 4-4.

Larry Aiello and Chris Colsia enjoyed big weeks for Andover Gold, both chalking up their second pitching victories and both going 3-for-4 at the plate against Blue.

Earl Abdo also came alive with the bat against SLE, smacking three hits, reaching base four straight times (one walk) and driving in three runs.

Gold was slated to face South Lawrence East and South Lawrence West earlier this week, and this evening the league leaders will host North Andover at the Phillips Academy Field (6 p.m.).

Andover Gold, 8-3

Gold jumped on Blue for seven runs on seven hits in the bottom of the first inning, while righthander Chris Colsia (2-1) scattered six safeties and struck out three to spark AG to this victory at Phillips Academy.

Leadoff batter Rick Lafond opened the big first inning by drawing a walk against Blue 14-year-old righthander Steve Surette, who settled down to pitch very well following the nightmarish opening stanza.

Lafond promptly stole second, Chris Nelson slapped a single to leftfield, and then consecutive RBI basehits were stroked by Colsia, Mike Lane, Larry Aiello and Chris Concerni.

Earl Abdo walked, Kurt Burzlaff kept things going with an RBI single to leftfield, and Lafond capped the uprising by drilling a two-run double to left-centerfield in his second appearance of the inning.

Dave Curtis and Pete Barry laced run-producing singles for Blue in the second, making it 7-2, and then Gold left the bases loaded in the bottom of the inning after Colsia reached on an error. Lane walked and Aiello singled.

Gold collected its final run in the third as Lafond was safe on a two-out error, Nelson walked and Colsia lashed an RBI single to centerfield.

The final Blue tally came in the fifth when Cam Deery singled, Jeff Smith reached on an error, Bill O'Brien was hit by a pitch to load the bases, and Tom Tormey drew a walk to force home Deery.

Colsia averted further trouble, however, by inducing Pat

Breen to pop to third and getting the next batter on strikes.

That started a string of eight straight hitters retired by the winning pitcher, as he finished the game strongly.

Gold mounted one final threat in the fifth, two-out singles spanked by 13-year-old Andy Shea and Colsia, but Mike Lane's hard liner was stabbed by Smith at short to end the inning.

Colsia and Aiello went 3-for-4 to pace the 12-hit Gold attack, while defensive standouts were Chris Concerni at third base (five chances), Scott Wallace at second and Larry Aiello at third.

Pete Barry went 2-for-2 and Brian Gibson delivered a pair of hits for Blue.

Andover Gold, 8-0

Righthander Larry Aiello (2-0) fired a crisp one-hit shutout, striking out eight and walking only two, as Gold trimmed South Lawrence East in their first meeting of the season.

Only four balls were hit out of the infield by SLE, and only one runner advanced as far as second base.

All that separated Aiello from a no-hitter was a crisp third inning single by Jack Halloran.

Aiello retired the last seven batters he faced and 10 of the final 11.

Gold notched the only runs necessary in the bottom of the first, as Chris Colsia reached on an infield error, Aiello drew a two-out walk and Earl Abdo sliced a two-run single to rightfield.

The score jumped to 4-0 in the third when Colsia again was safe on a misplay, stole second and scored on Scott Wallace's basehit. Wallace later crossed on a single by Aiello.

Walks to Abdo and Kurt Burzlaff loaded the bases with two down, but East lefty hurler Bob Carlson whiffed the next batter to prevent further damage.

In the AG fifth Aiello and Abdo drilled consecutive one-out singles, and they eventually scored the fifth and sixth runs on a passed ball and wild pitch respectively.

The final two runs came in the sixth frame, successive singles by 13-year-old Tom Murray, Colsia and 13-year-old Andy Shea loading the bases. Aiello lofted a long sacrifice fly to leftfield, rescuing Murray, and Abdo smacked his third single to plate Colsia.

Abdo went 3-for-3, Aiello 2-for-2, Murray 2-for-3 and Colsia scored three runs to spark the Andover Gold offense.

Abdo played a strong game at catcher, and Burzlaff made a nice running catch in centerfield to pace the victors' defensive effort.

Softball Standings

After eight weeks of play, standings in the DCS Men's Softball League are: 1. Town Grill, 9-1; 2. Jacklins, 8-2; 3. Frosty Mug, 9-3; 4. Front Row Photo, Howe Agency, 8-3; 6. A most exciting pennant race comes down to one game as the Giants are one game up on the Phillies. With the Phillies sitting on the sidelines with a 9 wins-6 losses record, the Giants are 9 wins-5 losses with the final game against the cold Dodgers.

The Giants are playing hot with six wins in the last seven tilts. In a crucial game last week, the Phillies crushed the Giants to stay in contention. Thanks to co-managers Ed Brown and Larry Heston.

Three straight wins left the Phillies solidly in second place. Kudos to manager Andy Shea and coach Dan Hall.

The Cardinals had a super finish with four of five wins to finish with an even 7 wins-7 losses. Bows to co-managers Alan Gable and Tom Zappala.

Fourth place belongs to the Braves with a final season record of 6 wins-7 losses. Thanks to manager Dennis Lyons.

The Pirates suffered late-season woes and lost David Manning to the Majors, finishing with six wins in 15 starts. Kudos to manager Joa Capeless.

After a strong start the Dodgers fell upon hard times and lost key players to vacation. Four straight losses lowered their record to five wins in 14 outings. Great job by Ken Elhot and Tim Haarmann, co-managers.

Andover Blue At 4-1-1

Third week action in the Greater Lawrence Babe Ruth League saw Andover Blue beating South Lawrence West 9-7, losing to Andover Gold 8-3 and tying North Andover 6-6 in a game called after seven innings due to darkness. The Blue extended their overall season W-L record to 4-4-1.

In Monday night action at North Andover's Grogans Field, North Andover jumped to a 5-0 lead highlighted by a long two-run homer in the bottom of the second. The Blue came back with three runs in the top of the third. Steve Surrence singled and moved to second on a stolen base. Glenn Allard singled and Cam Deery brought them home with a two-run double. Andover tied the game at 5-5 with two runs in the top of the fifth. Surrence, Allard, Deery and Dave Curtiss providing the bats in the inning. Rookie Steve Howes drove in the go-ahead run in the top of the seventh to put Andover up 6-5. North Andover tied the game with a run-scoring single in the bottom of the inning. Tom Tormey and Jeff Smith split the pitching chores for Andover. Tormey went the first four innings while Smith with three strong innings of relief. The Blue 13-year-old rookies continue to impress as Chris McAnally made a couple of fine defensive plays in centerfield in the final innings to help their cause.

On Tuesday, June 19, intra-town rivals Andover Blue and Andover Gold got together at Phillips Academy. The Gold jumped to a quick 7-0 first-inning lead as the entire lineup hit. Nelson, Colsia, Lane, Aiello, Conçemi and Burzlaff all had base hits contributing to the fast start. The Blue came back with two runs in the top half of the second inning as Curtiss, Peter Barry and Brian Gibson had hits to get the Blue on the board.

Surrence went the distance on the mound for the Blue and, after the rough first inning, settled down to give up one run and five hits over the final six innings. Colsia went the route for the Gold and pitched a strong seven hitter striking out four and only walking two.

Thursday night, June 21, saw Andover Blue playing South Lawrence West at Mount Vernon. The Blue came out quickly scoring two in the top of the first with Glenn Allard contributing the big hit. Four more runs came across for Andover in the top half of the second. Tormey started things off with a double to right followed by a Curtiss bunt. Barry then singled and Gibson drove a double in the gap for two more runs. Jeff Smith drove in the final tally of the inning with a sharp single to left. SLW pitched up a single run in the second inning but added five runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to tie things up.

With the score tied 6-6, Andover scored three runs in the top of the seventh to put the contest away. Cam Deery's two-run double was the big hit of the inning and the game.

Allard started on the mound and went 5 and 2/3 innings before Smith came on in relief. Smith got the win. Andover Blue centerfielder Peter Barry had two hits and upped his season on-base percentage to .432.

William J. Hegarty of Andover, associate executive director of the Melrose-Wakefield Hospital, gets ready to make a putt on the second hole of the course at the Bellevue Golf Club, Melrose. He was one of 116 golfers who participated in the hospital's Benefit Sports Day tournament. The hospital raised approximately $7,000.

The fear of the number 13 is called triskaidekaphobia.

Yankees 9 - Orioles 4

The Yankees took advantage of a porous Oriole defense to win a 9-4 decision.

In the Yankee first, Jeff Foley reached on an error and scored when Dave Hughes doubled. Hughes scored on errant Oriole play.

The Orioles scored three of their own in the first. Mike D'Angelo, Brett Hammond and Chip Stella singled consecutively resulting in two runs. Stella scored on an infield out.

The Yankees' Hughes and Orioles reliever Shawn Garrity appeared to have a one-two-three inning. With two outs, routine grounders turned into Oriole throwing errors and the Yanks erupted with four runs. Jon Lewis, Hughes and Brian Davies hit consecutive singles to account for the scores and put the game out of reach.

In the Oriole fifth, David Carriere blasted a towering shot over the left field fence for a homerun. It was Carriere's first homer and the only one hit this year for the Orioles.

The Yankees' Hughes pitched effectively allowing only five hits and one base on balls. Kevin Murphy gained a save striking out four in his two-inning stint. The Yankees' John Bishop and Orioles' Andy Brent made some nice grabs in left field for each team.

White Sox 9 - Red Sox 6

The White Sox beat the Red Sox 9-6 as Chris Eggert led the White Sox with three hits, six RBIs and a home run. The Red Sox scored three runs in the top of the first. Sean Ryan reached on an error, Joe Iarrabino walked and both scored on a David Sopp single. Sopp scored when George Bilger singled him home. The White Sox came back with two in the bottom half of the inning. Tyler Vadeboncoeur reached on an error and Eggert homered to make it 3-2. The Red Sox scored three more in the second inning when Ryan singled, Iarrabino reached on an error and Sopp singled home two more runs. Sopp then scored on a Mike Tiberii double to make it 6-2. The White Sox struck for four runs in the bottom of the third. Pete Kannam singled, followed by a Vadeboncoeur single and both scored on a Eggert single. Brian Yergatian singled Eggert home and Chris Kew doubled home Yergatian to tie the score 6-6. The White Sox scored three more runs in the fourth to put the game away. Kannam singled, Vadeboncoeur reached on an error and Eggert singled home the two runners. Eggert then scored on a wild pitch for a 9-6 White Sox lead. Jonathan Shine, John Millilo and Brad Cronin played excellent defense for the White Sox.

White Sox 17 - Braves 2

The White Sox defeated the National League Braves 17-2 behind the pitching and hitting of Chris Eggert. They also got outstanding games from Pete Kannam (three hits), Tyler Vadeboncoeur (three hits, three RBIs) and Chris Kew (three hits). Brian Yergatian, Scott Eggert, Bobby Henderson and Michael DiStefano got run-producing hits. Brad Cronin, Jimmy Morris, John Mellilo and Jonathan Shine played strong defense. The Braves got two hits from Jamie Hopwood and outstanding defense from Brian Lane and David Blank, both of whom made outstanding plays to take away sure base hits.

White Sox 12 - Orioles 7

The White Sox beat the Orioles in a seesaw battle which saw them come out on top 12-7. The Orioles broke on top with four runs in the top of the first. Mike D'Angelo singled, Bret Hammond reached on a fielder's choice and, after an error by the pitcher to load the bases, Dave Carriere drove in both D'Angelo and Hammond. Tom DeBenedictis then singled to score Stella and Carriere scored on a wild throw to make it 4-0. The White Sox came back with three in the bottom of the first. Kannam singled and Chris Eggert homered to cut the lead to 4-2. After a Vadeboncoeur single and stolen base, Michael DiStefano singled to score Vadeboncoeur. In the second inning the Orioles scored two more runs for a 6-3 lead. The White Sox got back two in the second when Kannam singled and scored on a Eggert double and Eggert scored on a Chris Kew single. The White Sox scored four runs in the third to take a 9-6 lead. Brad Cronin singled, John Mellilo walked and Pete Kannam singled to score Cronin. Eggert then hit his second home run of the game (his 12th of the season), a three-run blast to put the game away. The White Sox added two more runs on a triple by Jimmy Morris to score DiStefano who had singled. Morris then scored when Kannam singled, his fourth hit of the game. Jonathan Shine, Scott Eggert and Bobby Henderson played well in the field for the White Sox.

Yankees 8 - White Sox 6

The Yankees posted an 8-6 upset victory over the White Sox scoring eight runs in the fourth inning to overcome a 3-0 deficit. The White Sox had built their lead with a run in the second inning and two more in the third on two walks and a double by Jim Morris. The Yankees struck in the fourth inning collecting three walks to go along with two hits by Jonathan Lewis and other hits from Steve Liaw, Pat Hayes and Brian Davies. The White Sox came back to score one run in the fourth on a double by John Mellilo and single hits by Peter Kannam, Brian Yergatian and Chris Kew. The remaining two White Sox runs were scored on Chris Eggert's 13th home run of the season. Other Yankee players who collected hits were Jeff Foley, David Hughes and Craig DerAnanian.

Defensive, Pat Hayes and Jonathan Lewis each made fine plays, cutting the White Sox runners down at home plate. Also, Jeff Foley and Steve Liaw played strong defensive games. Kannam made several nice plays at shortstop for the White Sox while Scott Eggert played well in right field. The Yankees' pitching duties were handled by Kevin Murphy, who went three strong innings. Mike Pettoruto, who pitched two very good innings, and Pat Hayes, who came in to record the save. Mike DiStefano pitched very effectively for the White Sox until the Yankees got to him in the fourth inning and was followed by Brian Yergatian.

The person who advances is not the one who is afraid to do too much; it is the one whose conscience will not permit him to do too little, the one whose driving desire is to give the best that is in him, even though it may seem at times like casting seed upon unreturning waters.

Orlando Drafted By Celtics

Todd Orlando, shown here with his parents, Frank and Lavina Orlando of 9 Geary Lane, Atkinson, N.H., (formerly of Andover) was drafted by the Boston Celtics in the fifth round of Tuesday's NBA college draft. The 6'10" senior center from Bentley was the second leading scorer in the school's history.

Todd Orlando of Andover, the second-leading scorer in Bentley College history, was drafted by the World Champion Boston Celtics in the fifth round of Tuesday's NBA college draft.

The 6'10", 205 lb. senior center is, as expected, ecstatic over being selected by his hometown team, according to his head coach, Brian Hammel. "It's a lifelong dream for Todd," said the Bentley coach, himself a third-round pick of the Milwaukee Bucks nearly a decade ago.

During his career, the Andover High School product scored 1,671 points, more than any other player in Bentley history other than Hammel, who graduated in 1975 with 1,767 points. In addition to averaging 15.5 points during his four years, he pulled down 1,024 rebounds (third in Bentley history) and blocked a school-record 196 shots.

Orlando

Selected as a second-team Division II All-American by Basketball Weekly, Orlando was ranked nationally in fieldgoal percentage in each of his four collegiate seasons and finished with a school-record .616 shooting mark.

As a senior, Orlando led the Falcons to their second straight 18-9 record as he excelled at both ends of the court, averaging 15.9 points and 9.3 rebounds. He also had 58 blocked shots and shot at a blistering 63.6 percent clip.

A first-team All-Northeast-8 Conference selection in each of the last two years, Orlando was recently named the college's "Outstanding Male Senior Athlete."

"A self-made player, Todd has improved greatly every season, advancing from a skinny high school kid to a Division II All-American and an NBA draft choice," said Hammel.

a system for regular inspections of construction sites to help "avoid these kinds of procedural or substantive violations of board decisions" — and that he would "make a point to see that board requirements are met."

Moran said he would like to review enforcement procedures, and discuss "how this occurred," at a future board meeting.

Later Tuesday night, the board voted unanimously to disapprove preliminary plans for a nine-lot subdivision off High Plain Road. Coolidge Construction had proposed a conventional subdivision, with lots of at least one acre, for the 11.8-acre parcel.

The planners were not impressed with the size and shape of some of the lots, as well as the proposed drainage for the site. Curley said it was "not a very good plan," and one that showed "poor use of the land." The plans were drawn by Merrimack Engineering of Andover.

Audi invites you to take a closer look at three of our most amazing engineering feats. Our Prices.

Audi When you consider how well equipped each Audi 4000S is, it's quite an engineering feat that they are so affordable.

The two 4000S sports sedans, for example, are aerodynamically sleek, feature front-wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering, advanced fuel injected 4-cylinder engines, air conditioning, cruise control and the sort of comforting ergonomic interiors you expect in German luxury sport sedans. The surprise is, the engineering and luxury is not optional.

But the biggest surprise is the 4000S Quattro. It's the car that history will record as pivotal in the evolution of the passenger car. The German engineers at Audi combined permanent all-wheel drive with independent four-wheel suspension and four-wheel disc brakes to bring the driver a keener sensation of handling, cornering and stopping performance. And the interior appointments make it possible for passengers to enjoy this new driving experience as much as the driver.

The Audi sports sedans are worth a closer look. And even better than a look, a test drive. After you've experienced Audi's amazing engineering feats for yourself, we think you'll agree, the prices are sheer genius. 24 Month Unlimited Mileage Warranty

Bottle Display

A fascinating exhibit of nursing bottles collected by Jinny Brodsky of Andover is now on display at Memorial Hall Library. After collecting bottles at flea markets for about 10 years, Brodsky has become a veritable expert on the subject of baby bottles and nursing equipment. Included in the display are twin nursers, "murder" bottles, "baby foolers" and early feeders made of pewter which date back to the 1700s.

Summer Reading Ideas

Summer is a popular time to read long novels, mysteries and travel books. To aid in patron selection, Memorial Hall Library staff has prepared two new reading lists—the 1984 Summer Reading List and a Junior High Reading List—both of which are available in the main reading room. Various displays around the reading room will also feature interesting leisure reading materials this summer. For a rainy day diversion, remember that the library loans video-cassettes as well as books and records. Two new additions to the VC collection are "Terms of Enderment" and "The Right Stuff."

May Widen River Road

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The next chapter in the "never-ending saga of River Road" — where industrial development is surging — might well be the widening of one section of that roadway to three lanes, engineer Robert Vanasse told the Planning Board this week.

Vanasse Hangen Associates of Boston has been studying the River Road corridor since 1982. Vanasse said, with its goal to recommend roadway improvements to help accommodate industrial development in West Andover Industrial Tech Park.

Phase One of those improvements may be just around the corner. Vanasse said Tuesday night: Andover has applied for funding through the state Public Works Economic Development (PWED) program, seeking $500,000 to $700,000 to widen one section of River Road to three lanes.

That section is at the intersection of River Road and Old River Road, near the Route 93 interchange. Engineer Dermott Kelly said River Road would be widened from two to three lanes for about 500 feet on either side of the Old River Road intersection, for a total of about 1,000 feet.

Old River Road would be relocated by about 50 feet, to line it up with the driveway to Wang Laboratories' site. Wang's 250,000-square foot building is already under construction near the intersection.

Other properties that could be developed near the intersection include a 10-acre site located between Old River Road and River Road (Vazza Properties of Braintree has an option on that site, now owned by industrial park developer Arkwright-Boston), and a 16-acre site next to Route 93, where Ocean Properties had proposed a 300-room hotel. The Zoning Board of Appeals recently vetoed that proposal, but town officials haven't ruled out the possibility of revised plans for the site.

As part of its PWED grant application, Andover will begin an environmental impact report next month. Vanasse explained

The work is already in the design stages, he added, and construction documents are being prepared. If the state gives Andover the grant (and he said the chances are "fifty-fifty" that that will happen), construction could begin in the spring of 1985.

Town officials should know whether or not the town will receive the grant by next fall, Vanasse said.

It will not be necessary to take any residential land to widen the road to three lanes, according to Vanasse. However, land-takings will be necessary if the road is eventually widened to five lanes, as Vanasse Hangen has recommended.

Vanasse said he would recommend "phasing-in" improvements to River Road only as they are needed, as industrial development progresses — and there is "no question" that the three-lane improvement near Old River Road is needed now.

By 2000, River Road could be supporting one million square feet of new development plus a 300-room hotel, Kelly noted, and a five-lane roadway might be inevitable.

One area of immediate concern is the northwest quadrant of the industrial park. Vanasse said, where Koala Inn and the proposed Shattuck Office Center (60,000 square feet) are located.

He promised to keep the planners updated, in the weeks ahead, on what he called "the never-ending saga of River Road."

Most of our faults are more pardonable than the means we use to conceal them.

BE WARY OF NET LISTING

There are many ways you can list your house with a real estate agency, such as: the open listing, the exclusive agency listing or the exclusive right-to-sell listing. One arrangement, however, should trigger a red light. It's called the "net listing."

If an agent proposes to guarantee you a certain sum from the sale of your home in return for the chance to keep anything OVER that amount, you have been offered a "net listing." This arrangement is open to so much abuse that it is illegal in about half the states.

At first, it may sound seductive, you receive the sum you must take out of the property, and the agent assumes all the risk that it might not bring more. But any number of complications can arise. The agent might be tempted to block an otherwise attractive offer. The AGENT'S interests are now paramount although the law requires that you, as the client, must come first. As previously mentioned, the net listing is seldom in the seller's best interest and is illegal in many states.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 5 Punchard Ave., Andover, Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

SELLING YOUR HOUSE

By Lou Patracone

ASKING QUESTIONS

Would you ask strangers how much they make a year? How much they have in the bank? Whether both husband and wife work?

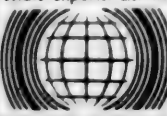

When it comes to qualifying a prospective buyer for your home, you need to know whether this person has the down payment you require and enough income to get a loan for the rest of your price. It's not easy to ask a stranger these "rude" questions, and an individual is not in a position to check up on the answers.

Worse yet, you may waste your time with three or four prospects who like your house but are not really able to buy it.

There's a better way. Let us ask the questions FOR you. Before we even take prospective buyers on a house tour, we interview them closely. What is the income? Savings? What does the family really want in a home? Neighborhood? Where are they living now? And we get accurate answers, because the prospect knows we'll check.

When we bring someone to your door, we're not wasting your time or ours. This is a prospective buyer who is looking for a property like yours and has the wherewithal to purchase it. We can't guarantee an immediate sale, but the groundwork has been done.

When you need answers to tough questions, call in the real estate experts. List with —

BayBank Eyes West Andover

The rush to provide convenience for their West Andover customers is on as BayBank Merrimack Valley has joined the Andover Savings Bank with plans for a branch office west of Main Street.

BayBank officers have taken the first step towards putting a branch office in the Shattuck Office Center, to be built on Old River Road, by developer Irving Wynn.

But Andover Saving Bank officials have a one month jump on the BayBank. They will appear before the town's Zoning Board of Appeals on Friday, July 6, at 7:30 p.m., to request a special permit and variance to put a branch office at 159 River Road.

Officers at BayBank must get permission to establish a branch in West Andover from the national Comptroller of Currency in New York, since they are a national bank. Their next move will be to request a special permit from the Zoning Board, which BayBank Senior Vice-President John Petraborgh told THE TOWNSMAN he hopes to file for soon. He said he wasn't sure the bank would take its case to the Appeals board in August.

But Petraborgh did say he hopes the BayBank is in West Andover in "early fall."

Wynn has yet to break ground for his office center, where Petraborgh said BayBank will lease space. The bank vice-president said he didn't know of any details the bank has yet worked out for the proposed branch office.

"The only thing we know is that we do want to go to West Andover," said Petraborgh. "We are really in the preliminary stages. There are no formalized plans for what the bank will look like."

Banks in the town's Industrial D zone, where both banks will be if they are built, is something new. Town Meeting voters paved the way for the banks to move to West Andover, in the town's most restrictive industrial zone, this April when they approved an article to allow banks to establish branches in West Andover with a special permit from the Zoning Board. The Town Meeting vote passed 217 to 95.
